

MANAGING WIRELESS NETWORK DATA

ABSTRACT

In the context of managing wireless network data, access information for a wireless local area network (WLAN) is identified. The access information is accessible over a wireless packet data connection. Based on the access information, a connection is established between a wireless data device and the WLAN.

10060020-012902